In part - IV, things are happening after a lapse of ten years. Lily Briscoe and others came back to the summer house after so many years. Mrs. Ramsay was no more. That very morning Mr. Ramsay, Carn and James were going to make their expedition to the Lighthouse. There was silence; nothing stirred in the house. Finally the party left for the Lighthouse. Mr. Ramsay had nearly finished the book he started reading after stepping into the boat. The rock was very close. Mr. Ramsay sprang on to the rock quite lightly like a young man. The children followed him gladly. All of a sudden Lily drew a line in the centre in her painting. She laid down her brush and felt that she had had her vision at last.

⇒ Homophones have similar sounding words that have different spelling and pronunciation.

Class/Hour : I MA / IV

Subject : Chaucer to 17th c.

Topic : Tom Jones.

⇒ Explained Tom Jones, in which true identity is revealed of Tom and he wins Sophia's hand. But numerous obstacles have to be overcome before he achieves her hand. In the course of the action the various sets of characters pursue each other from one part of the country to another, giving Fielding an opportunity to paint an incomparably vivid picture of England in the mid-18th century.

Fielding used enormous humour to teach people to laugh "at the follies of others" and to "grieve at their own mistakes". This makes Tom Jones a satire, a genre that focuses on human stupidity and weakness.

Given introduction - 'Much Ado About Nothing'

It is difficult to determine the exact date of composition of a play of Shakespeare. However, critics are agreed that the play must have been written around the year 1598, and it was first performed in the year 1600. The title of the play is apt and suggestive, for throughout the play there are a number of illusions, deceptions and errors, about which much ado or fuss is made, but which in reality come to nothing.
