The English Literary Association of J.J. College of Arts and Science (Autonomous), Pudukkottai, organized an Intra Departmental Book Cover Design Contest at 10.30 a.m on 10 August 2026 in S1 Hall. The event aimed to encourage students to showcase their creativity, artistic skills, and appreciation for English literature by designing attractive book covers for famous English novels, plays, or poems.

The programme commenced with a warm welcome to the participants. 24 students from UG and PG English enthusiastically took part in the competition by presenting original and innovative book cover designs. They used various drawing materials and displayed remarkable imagination, creativity, and artistic talent. The participants carefully included the title and author's name in their designs while maintaining originality.

The competition was conducted for 60 minutes, and the judges Ms.S.Selvi and Mr.S.Sivakumar evaluated the Book Cover Designs based on creativity, originality, relevance to the literary work, and overall presentation. The event witnessed active participation from the students of the Department of English and created a vibrant atmosphere of learning and artistic expression.

The programme was successfully organized by Mr. R. Aravindh and Ms. S. Devika under the guidance of Ms. S. Selvi, Head of the Department. The event concluded with a vote of thanks, appreciating all the participants for their enthusiastic involvement and creative efforts.
